Phillips' Principles.

The Great Thinker on the Currency Question.

In the Cincinnati Enquirer of Nov. 26th is an interview with Wendell Phillips of which the following is an extract. Phillips said:

"The question of paper money, based upon the credit of the Government, is only one of time. It is certain to come, and to become a great cohesive power in the formation of our nation. Constitutional bounds must not be overstepped in bringing the matter about, but it can be done in time and by proper steps, and is a necessity. The South in its impoverished state needs, even demands it, and the West, in her crippled condition also needs it. In regard to resumption, I prophesied before the Social Science Association in 1875 that the country would never resume by statute. This theory was received with considerable ridicule by papers in the East, but time showing that it is correct. It is no more right to resume by statute than it is to put your hand into every tenth man's pocket and take out a sovereign. When the nation was in the emergency of war the paper money was issued. It changed the relation of debtor and creditor, it is true, but it was a necessity then, and was right—it could not be avoided. Resumption, if it came as a natural course of business, would be all right, but anticipated by statute it would upset business affairs. It is not justice to order the man who has borrowed ten dollars to pay eleven unless it is to save the life of a nation. To do this would be as much a cheat as when the Henrys or the Edwards of England debased the coin. As I said, the South, in her impoverished condition, must have money. It may seem strange to see me clasping hands with the South, but this is her great need. More paper money is to be the great bond of strength to hold our country together and make us independent of other countries and nations. Paper money is a second Declaration of Independence. When Mr. Boutwell said, a few years ago, that the Bank of England had forbidden him to move forty millions of money which he had purchased there and which was then in her vaults, when he admitted that he was obliged to be held by this demand, he tacitly admitted that as a nation we were subjects of Great Britain. Franklin said that the money of a republic or of a nation ought not to have a value outside of her own limits. It creates an independence of other powers and is a bond of national union—when its creation and uses are in the hands of the proper classes of society. I used to be with the Workingmen's party, but I see that you can not, fortunately, divide capital and labor. Labor must have money, and the creation of currency should lie with the mass of business men and their representatives. The rights of the laboring people can only be obtained by breaking the yoke of the money power. The control of financial affairs rests in the hands of the Directors of the American Banks and those of the Bank of England. If the Bank of England leaves the door open, all the American banks sneeze. Take the creation of currency out of the hands of capitalists and put it into the hands of the true business men of the country. Every Troy—and too many are unconsciously Tories—clings to capital, but every American who digests the Declaration of Independence sails in the float which Jefferson launched. Trust the intelligence and virtue of the masses and don't hide behind the supposed virtue of caste. Henry Wilson was, not long before his death, discussing the financial issues, as presented in Ohio, the greenback question, and he struck the key-note precisely. 'It is sad,' said his companion, 'the Ohio business.' 'Yes,' said his companion, 'the Democrats are making a great blunder in following this greenback theory.' 'Oh, no,' said Mr. Wilson, 'on the contrary, the mistake is on the part of the Republicans in letting them get ahead of them on the subject. We should have seized that post and held it, for it is one of great importance.' Mr. Wilson's chief merit was in feeling the public pulse at finger-ends. He saw a year, or indeed years, ahead, and he saw that the Ohio Democratic doctrine of a national greenback currency was the great need, and the gain by its advocacy very great.'

The Democratic Rooster,

[Burlington Hawkeye.] The newsboy likes to see newspaper roosters. He is neutral in politics, but he has an eye for the fine points of a game chicken. When they saw the birds in the Free Press this morning after the Ohio election, they felt good, but they didn't show their feelings to every one. When wicked Jack Shephard held a paper out to a well known Republican, and was asked how Ohio had gone the boy replied:

"Kinder Dimocatic, I guess' but I dunno."

"What does the paper say?"
"It has got roosters in"

"Thunder! is that so?"
"But that's nuthin,'" apologized Jack. "Them dispatches come in the night, and I reckon the figgers got changed around. Have a copy!"

"Claims a big Democratic victory, does it?"
"Yes, she claims that; put it was a Democrat who telegraphed it, you see."

"I guess I don't want a paper," sighed the man.

"Don't you member how Tilden was lected?" asked Jack. "Well, 'twen you and me, this is 'nother such case. Our folks is going to let the Democrats feel good to-day and then set down to-morrow. Have a paper?"

"I'm afraid she's gone" mused the man, as he saw the roosters.

"Tell you what," continued Jack, as his face brightened, "you might buy a paper and hunt for the county which the democrats didn't carry!"

"No; guess not."

"There was one!"

"No; don't want it."

"Then, all about the g-r-e-a-t Democratic victory in O-h-i-o!" shrieked Jack, as he pursued his way up the street.

TELEGRAPHING WITHOUT WIRES.—Professor Loomis, of Washington, who has devoted his life to demonstrating the practicability of his theory of aerial telegraphing, seems to be on the eve of success. His system is based on a current of electricity which he has demonstrated exists at various heights, and which transmits communication between two perpendicular wires reaching into it, whatever the distance may be. He has already sent messages in this way for a distance of eleven miles, using the Morse battery in connection with one of his own invention. It seems assured that aerial telegraphing by means of rods on natural or artificial eminences can be successfully practiced at all times, though its great value will be in long distance telegraphing, as from one side of the ocean to the other. Professor Loomis is now making arrangements for series of experiments between peaks of the Alps and the Rocky Mountains. If he succeeds, of course telegraphing between the old world and the new will be cheapened a thousand fold, and Professor Loomis is thoroughly convinced that before many years submarine cables will be lying abandoned and useless in their ocean beds.—Worcester Spy.

In Utah.

Brigham Young is dead, and with a spirit which reminds us very much of the rest of humanity, his fellows are forgetting him and entering zealously into the manufacture of misery once more. The Endowment House where hoary-headed old sinners take to themselves a change of wife, is now in the midst of a prosperous run, and the various departments of the Mormon criminal practice are in working order. The patriarchal criminals, too old for active service devote their gray hairs to a defense of the traditions under which they sinned. The apostolic villains are receiving revelations once more, direct from their depraved imaginations and the rank and file of unprincipled liars and scoundrels are closing up and preparing for another vigorous campaign in sensual brutality. We talk at length about the protection arising from our common schools, and rejoice that intelligence is breeding respect for law and order, and in order to show this plainly, we maintain a hot-bed for the propagation of vice. In the midst of our continent we see this colony defying the laws of every civilized race and devoting its best energies to the insult of every virtuous precept. There are scoundrels unpunished, murderers unhung, and thieves who should be in jail, and samples of all these may be found in Mormondom. The abilities of Judas Iscariot seem very small beside the record of the religious villains of Utah; and man begins to wonder how long the villainous crew who were cunning enough to invent a new creed, are to be allowed to prey upon the ignorant. Is it not time that the Government recognized the existence of Mormonism? Is it not time that we informed these creed inventors of the existence of some legal purgatory where religious liars or Mormon prophets may be well toasted? Surely it is about time, else the invention of creeds will become a lucrative industry, alluring every man whose ignorance forbids ordinary crimes, and every coward who fears to meet and cope with his fellow man.

The campaign in Nevada is about to open, and we have one name which we would like to see mentioned honorably and effectively by Republicans. We allude to O. H. Grey, of White Pine, a man who has been tried and found upright. We have never had the privilege of conversing with Mr. Grey for more than five minutes, but having noted his record and seen the honest purpose which has uniformly moved the man, we would like to see his fidelity recognized. We are not aware that Mr. Grey is a candidate for any office, but we believe that he might be with profit to both party and people.

THE SILVER MEN.—NEW YORK, December 6.—A Times' Washington special says: The silver monomaniacs in the House are now expressing a determination to attach the silver bill to the appropriation bill, and thus force it to action in the Senate. The scheme is bold one, and can only succeed by the persistent action of two-thirds of the House. It is first necessary to change the rules, which has always been difficult, and the silver bill would then be open to discussion. This would lose it many votes. A prominent western man who voted for the bill when it passed, and expressed himself afterwards earnestly opposed to some features of it, was asked: Why, then did you vote for the bill? He explained that his people at home demanded the remonetization of silver. They did not discriminate between methods nor foresee the results. He could not explain his views before voting, and to vote against the bill and explain afterwards, was to subject himself at home to the charge of deserting and apologizing, and nothing he could then say would be accepted. A Chicago Congressman said he would be burned in effigy if he did not vote for the bill, which he did, although personally opposed to it.

Sitting Bull is said to hold a white prisoner, supposed to be Corporal Ryan, captured in the Custer fight. An investigation is to be made, and if the story is true Ryan's release will probably be effected.

"Owed to Daggett."

[Communicated.]
WASHOE CITY, Nev., Nov. 7.

EDITOR GAZETTE: In the Thursday's issue of the Territorial Enterprise I find an editorial from that true Republican, R. M. Daggett, commenting upon the lecture General Clarke delivered before the Reno Lyceum Club. Had he confined himself to his subject and not gone entirely out of his way to insult a body of men whom I believe to be fully his equals, intellectually, and as much above him in honesty, integrity and every quality that goes to make up true manhood, as the diamond is better than paste, I would not ask the space to answer his base assertions; nor do I wish it understood that I am in any way defending General Clarke, knowing as I do well the ability of that gentleman to break any lance thrown from a hand so bound as is the editor's of the Enterprise.

I had hoped that the rustication (I believe that is the term used when it becomes necessary to turn an old ass out to grass), that his owners had given him would have improved him, mentally, morally, and physically, but I find in that editorial a rehearsal of a four-year-old editorial almost word for word, as follows:

A chronic clique of reformers have tried for years, by raising just before election the cry of "rings," to disrupt and destroy the Republican party. Of this crowd Gen. Clarke has been at the head. They have beaten many good men for office and elected several idiots. They are liable to do it again and further disgrace the State. So, it is timely and appropriate for General Clarke to lead the pack with an opening bay.

Now it is true that some four years ago some of the best and truest men endeavored to save the State the disgrace of sending William Sharon, at that time a citizen of the State of California, to the Senate of the United States. The editor of the Enterprise worked—I had almost said manfully, but will modify by saying like a horse, for his election and succeeded. Today William Sharon is a subject of ridicule in every town and hamlet in the United States where a newspaper is taken and read, and the very (paid) men who were anxious for his election then are now asking him to resign the high and honorable office he disgraces, even if a Democrat be appointed in his place.

For opposition to the election of Sharon, and other damnable frauds which I will not mention, perpetrated in the name of and through the so-called Republican party, a paid press, in the interests of corrupt "rings" has showered down upon the heads of the true Republicans of Washoe County all the vile epithets in their Billinggate vocabulary, terming them sore heads, cronic office seekers, idiots, etc. Four years ago the "reformers" elected their entire State and County ticket, and a better and more gentlemanly set of officers was never elected in this county and I never yet have heard that any one of these "reformers" had his election expenses paid or sold out his vote after election; in other words these vile "reformers" are not for sale. Are you?

I take the greatest pleasure in informing you that through the influence of these same "reformers" neither "rings" nor railroad kings, (and that is what the matter with your masters), own Washoe County, and also that the men of four years ago are still here and if the fraud undertaken to be perpetrated upon the people last Winter is the next issue, or if any man undertakes to buy his way into the United States Senate with money, you will find those same men standing like a wall in the cause of right to stay the tide of corruption, misrule and opposition.

We are not "a disgrace" to the State Mr. Daggett, although men who scatter broadcast lies of the darkest type to assist in the election to office of men equally vile with themselves, for the express purpose of committing a known fraud, undoubtedly are.

INDEPENDENT.
No news has been received from Lieutenants Bullis and Young, who crossed into Mexico over three weeks ago with a command of Seminole scouts. Some believe they have been killed by the Mexicans, and others that they have been captured and sent as prisoners to the City of Mexico. The news is decidedly warlike.

The House and Senate on Thursday passed a concurrent resolution for the adjournment of Congress for the Christmas holidays from December 15 to January 8.

Senatorial Squibs.

Yesterdays Gala Day in the Senate.

Chicago Dec. 7.—The Inter Ocean's Washington special has an interesting account of the Senate Executive session yesterday. Incidentally a warm discussion occurred turning on the Tenure of Office Act, in which Conkling denounced the President severely, holding up his Civil Service Reform announced as a pretense of deceiving the public and ridiculing his message ironical quotations. He advocated the strict enforcement of the Tenure of Office Act.

Some of his witty, sarcastic remarks roused Judge Davis who suggested that Conkling was guilty of inconsistency in allowing the confirmation of Wm. Henry Smith as Collector at Chicago in violation of the Tenure of Office Act. Conkling replied that Illinois Senators, and not he, were responsible for that. Davis retorted that he had opposed the appointment and the confirmation. Conkling sneeringly remarked that he was surprised at the overwhelming vote in favor of Smith in face of the gigantic efforts put forth by the Independent Senator from Illinois to prevent it.

He (Thurman) declared that the Toledo postmaster was appointed in violation of the President's Civil Service rule and in pursuance of a compact by which Mathews became Senator. Mathews rose angrily made his maiden speech, defending himself and the President, declaring that the Senate's whole duty was to pass on the qualifications of appointees. Conkling warmly replied and Mathews held his own much better than anticipated.

Voorhees made his maiden speech also, devoting the greater part of it to denying newspaper statements that the Democrats intended to reorganize the Senate and seat Tilden in the White House.

He said that he had been assured that Democrats were trying to Johnsonize President Hayes, which he also denied. The Republicans could keep their President. He remarked that they had forced him into his chair, and he, for one, did not desire to prevent them from enjoying his administration to the fullest degree.

Mr. Voorhees then followed in the same strain in which Thurman had spoken, denouncing the Democrats who had accepted office under President Hayes.

The Mexican Border.

A Washington, special of Dec. 7, says: The Democracy here are pro-securing war with Mexico, claiming that Gen. Ord is not a fit man to whom to intrust affairs on the Rio Grande, and holding that the Administration, backed by various Eastern commercial journals, is endeavoring to provoke the hostilities. One Democratic member said:

"It would not be proper to speak my mind frankly about Gen. Ord's examination to-day, but I will say that if it is the desire of the Administration to preserve amicable relations with Mexico, they have, considering all the circumstances, selected for commander of the troops on the Texas border the officer who would be most likely to defeat their purpose." It is no secret among army officers that the selection of General Ord for the duty assigned to him was indicative of the intent of the Government to provoke a collision between our troops and those of Mexico. How to counteract the influences which are swiftly carrying us into complications from which escape without war will be hopeless, has as above stated been the subject of anxious deliberation by Speaker Randall and his most trusted confidential advisers.

It is stated that on Monday next at the furthest a resolution will be introduced into the House, taking the ground that the proper way in which to establish friendly relation with Mexico, prevent border disturbances and to assist the people of that country in maintaining a stable Government and build up their material prosperity, is to promote commercial relations between the two nations, and to this end every effort ought to be made to secure a reciprocity treaty which will develop trade and bring the people of the respective countries into close business relations.

Uncle Billy Lent has received a letter from Bodie. The result is told in the San Francisco Stock Exchange: "I can't tell you what it contains," Uncle William said to an Exchange man, "for I don't want it to get into the papers. But I'll say that the whole camp is the biggest thing ever struck on this coast. This letter is about Bechtel. It's 'away up—you mark my words—in thirty days—but there, I won't say any more," continued Uncle William, "for I don't want it in the papers—the stock might go up. Standard is the biggest thing I ever saw—and it is getting bigger and bigger, and richer and richer—and, well, now you would not believe me if I was to tell you all. We have had $6,000 down this month, and ten days more to hear from. We've got money enough in the treasury for two one-dollar dividends outside of that. What's the stock worth? Why you can't buy any at any price. There's Bodie, next door to Standard. In two weeks they'll strike the Standard ledge, and then look out for fun in that quarter. There's going to be three of the prettiest mines there this coast has ever seen, Bechtel, Standard and Bodie—it-tat—to three in a row—see! It's going to beat the Comstock all to—"

RENO EVENING GAZETTE.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE EPISCOPAL SOCIAL.—Command us to church socials henceforth and forever. Cynics may object to one covey oyster boiled in a gallon of water, and to ice cream wherein the cream is lacking. Old bachelors may say that it is only a source of annoyance, provided by womankind for the affliction of the sterner sex, and old maids may declare against a lot of "simpering misses" who get up socials in order that they may "set their caps" at unwary single men 'neath the church shadow. As for us give us the "simpering misses," the "cap-setting" and all that if it can only make good people as sociable as they were last evening at Kimble's Hall. Pleasant conversation, card playing and dancing in warm and well-lighted rooms, a comfortable repast, and value received for everything invested. That is about as good fare as we get in this world. Let's have it often.

THE ROVER CASE.—District Attorney Harding of Humboldt who was lately in Carson attending to the matter of default in case of Washoe Co. vs Humboldt Co., took occasion while there to enquire into the probable proceedings in the Rover case. Mr. Harding informs the Silver State that judgment in that case will undoubtedly be affirmed by the Supreme Court, and the opinions be published before Christmas. Judge Leonard having acted as counsel for prosecution during the first trial of Rover, will not pass an opinion on the case. Should the judgment be affirmed as predicted there is no other ground on which the case can stand, and Rover is a doomed man.

LESS COMFORT AHEAD.—We understand that a soap manufactory will soon be started in Kimble's shop. We wish Kane well but this is a hard season of the year to make a fellow use soap. Imagine a boy of 9 summers hauled up before a pan of cold water and a bar of resin soap. The dirt that accumulated during the day would make excellent protection for the cold air of evening, but no, his mother must remove all impediments to his beauty, and spoil his boyish comfort. We wish no harm to Kane, but hope he will set a high mark on his soap during winter and early spring.

ON THE WAR PATH.—Ben Bacon, Charley Green and R. P. Ferguson, all residents in and about Boca, passed through Reno this morning, en route for Brown's, in Humboldt county, where the wild and luscious duck is said to abound. The outfit consisted of four sacks of flour, nine sides of bacon, (not counting Ben), and any quantity of ammunition. The freight on ammunition alone bankrupted the party, and the C. P. Company compelled the nimrods to go out in a powder car to avoid the danger of an explosion. They will return in about four days.

PRISONERS.—Sheriff Sias and W. H. Huyck, arrived in Reno last night on their way to Carson. They had in charge R. Hamilton and T. Laurie, the gentlemen who assisted Jack Davis in his attempt to rob the Belmont stage. Davis was killed and his illustrious conferees are under sentence of 14 years each. Stage robbing is no surer nowadays than any other business.

NEW YEAR'S EVE.—That Firemen's ball at Wadsworth on New Year's Eve, promises to be a very enjoyable affair. The preparations are about completed, and they evidently anticipate a great time. We have always had an opinion that railroad boys were hard to beat, and we know that when friends are to be entertained they have never been found wanting.

LECTURE.—Rev. W. C. Gray will lecture to-morrow evening at the Methodist Church, on the subject of "Our boys." Our girls took a benefit on Sunday last. The lectures are quite interesting and a large attendance is expected.

NEW GAME.—Chielovich has imported a new game, called parlor bagatelle, and several of our steady citizens were to-day very much excited over the points of the game and the drinks they had to pay for.

NEW BARBER SHOP.—Joe Lopez can be found on the corner of Commercial Row and Virginia Street, where good work in the tinsorial line is guaranteed. He invites all his friends to call.

Jottings.

S. D. Wheeler is in the city. W. B. King, of Surprise, is at the International, and unwell.

The Journal office yesterday received a six-bit cut by freight.

Alfalfa Grange elected officers to-day.

Cohn & Isaacs have as fine winter underclothing as we have ever seen.

Manning & Duck have just received a large supply of Pyramid potatoes.

Considerable building is going on in Reno. We counted twelve houses to-day.

The Grangers were out in force to-day, and pretty good men they are, too.

S. P. Kelley, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and occasional editor of the Carson Appeal was at the social last evening.

Jerry Blaisdell, an old timer in Truckee Meadows, has returned from a tramp. Rumor says that he struck a bonanza.

The season for digging Indian potatoes has arrived and the festive squaw wears a look of contentment on her face and a cone-shaped basket on her back.

OFF AGAIN.—Old "Localiters", the genial and ubiquitous, is again a rolling stone. He went to Virginia this morning in obedience to an invitation. His last words were "I am going to visit the Comstock and view the bowels of the earth, should I expire from suffocation or any similar cause, please say that I died in the firm hope of a life beyond." "Localiters" is very sanguine, at times. He will visit to-day the Sutro tunnel and every wonder of the Comstock. Our readers may expect to hear of it.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—The following persons were to-day elected as officers of Alfalfa Grange No. 1, P. of H., for the year 1878: Master, T. W. Norcross; Overseer, A. A. Longley; Lecturer, Orvin Ross; Stewart, John Boynton; Assistant Stewart, A. M. Lamb; Secretary, A. J. Hatch, Treasurer, Geo. Deremer; Chaplain, J. C. Haynes; Gate Keeper, E. R. Chapin; Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. C. B. Norcross; Ceres, Mrs. E. R. Chapin; Pomona, Mrs. D. A. Ross; Flora, Mrs. A. M. Lamb.

THE NEW FURNACE.—The Creall furnace, of which we gave a description last week, is now nearly completed. Everything is ready for use, except the iron work which is expected by Manday next. After the iron work arrives it will take but two days to complete the furnace after which the drying out process will commence. This will take about 10 days time, and then the test of the furnace's virtues will begin. Friends of Pyramid are hopeful that the new furnace will at least establish the character of Pyramid ore. We hope it.

BIG WATER SUIT.—A very important water suit is now being tried in Winnemucca. P. N. Marker of Washoe is plaintiff, and Joseph Marzen et al are defendants. C. S. Varian of Reno is conducting plaintiff's case and Bonnifield of Humboldt appears for defendant. The case has been on trial for nearly a week and will consume the present week and a portion of next, several witnesses remaining to be examined.

Two old staggers met upon the street; says one:

"Well I met Parker this morning."

Second stager.—"What did he say?"

"He said the Lord was his shepherd," but I told him that he lied.

"Then what did he do?"

"He did nothing, only looked disengaged."

FRANK'S CHOP HOUSE.—Mr. Frank Rhodes, one of the best cooks on the coast, keeps a first class chop house on the east side of Virginia street. Frank cannot be excelled in cutting up ordered meats. House open night and day. East side of Virginia street, Reno.

WINTERMANTEL'S.—The attention of the reader is called to the comfortable hotel and restaurant of Louis Wintermantel, on Center Street, near the Depot. The best of accommodations are offered to travellers. The El Dorado Saloon, opposite the hotel, where the piano will be well shown, billiard galleries, ten pin alleys, billiard table and bagatelle. The El Dorado has been arranged for the comfort of guests, and the best of wines, liquors and cigars are kept constantly on hand. If you are looking for a really comfortable place in which to pass an hour, go to the El Dorado, and good attention is guaranteed.

PS.

NEW BARBER SHOP.—Joe Lopez can be found on the corner of Commercial Row and Virginia Street, where good work in the tinsorial line is guaranteed. He invites all his friends to call.

This weekly trade news budget, contains considerable change in prices of the staple commodities in the S. F. market, but notes little change in the local market. In both markets trade has been about the same as last week the closeness in the circulation of money has created perhaps a greater demand for money, but has made no material change in trade. The late deals in mining stocks have made heavy raids on the free coin of the Coast, but no crisis in trade is threatened. Very few failures are reported on this Coast and those which have occurred have been the result generally of wild speculation.

It is reported that Suleiman Pasha has gained another victory between Elena and Trinova.

The Rights of Woman as Colonel Ingersoll Understands Them.

I believe woman is the equal of man and has all the rights of man, and one more, that of protection. I believe the institution of marriage to be the holiest and most sacred institution among men. Yet it took thousands of years to advance from slavery up to the marriage institution. I hate a man who thinks he is the head of a family. I do. I despise him. I hate one of those dignified goolots (Rosas of laughter). I never saw a dignified man in my life who was not a dunc. Solemnity is a brawstock which mediocrity throws up to defend itself from the eyes of the world. I hate a man who is aristocrat in his family, and whose wife is obliged to be beggar. She says, "I want a dollar," and asks for it as if she was standing on a bombshell, and he replies, "What did you with the last fifty cents I gave you?" How many women are obliged to be continual beggars. How can you raise children in such an atmosphere? It's a terrible thing; it's wretched and infamous. I believe in the democracy of the family. Every home should be a little republic in itself. Love is the only thing that will pay ten per cent. to both borrower and lender. Love is the only thing where the least possible extravagance is the height of economy. What right has a man to be the head of a family? A man should be cheerful and pleasant on coming into a house. When you enslave anybody you make them dishonest. A hut with love is a palace fit for a king. A little while ago I stood at the tomb of the dead Napoleon, and when I thought of his past life, I thought I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes, living in a hut with a little wife I loved, with children upon my knee and their arms about my neck, and died unnoticed and unknown, loved by those who knew me, than to have been that king. It is not necessary to be great or rich or powerful to be happy.

A Woman's Heroic Fight With a Mad Dog.

One of the nursing sisters of the Order of Troyes succumb last week to an attack of hydrophobia, contracted under circumstances of no ordinary heroism. As related in the Gazette Hebdomadaire, a month ago Sister S. was taking charge, for a walk, of some convalescent children, the eldest of whom was only eight years of age, when they were suddenly assailed by a sheep dog, whose jaws were running with foam, and who attacked them with fury. She instantly saw the danger of her charges, and resolutely interposed between the terrified children and the furious animal, bravely withheld its attack. She was seriously bitten and the dog, excited by the cries of the children, endeavored to rush upon them. Then followed a splendid act of devotion. Protecting with her body the children who hung to her petticoats, shrieking with terror, this brave girl threw herself courageously on the dog, and for ten minutes grappled it, rolled over with it, and thrusting her fist into his mouth to prevent his biting the children. Some peasants came up at last, beat off and killed the dog. The Sister was found to have fifteen deep wounds on her hands and lacerated arms; an important artery was wounded. Skilful care was given to her wounds, ligatures were amply applied, and for a short time after her return to Paris some hope existed that she might escape the ultimate fate, which there was so much reason to fear. On Tuesday, however, the pharyngeal spasm, vomiting, and hydrophobia in all its characteristic symptoms appeared, and Sister S. died from this fatal and fearful disease, finding consolation in the certitude of having saved at the price of her own life, the five children who had been confided to her. Such traits of heroism can hardly serve for an object of comment; there memory becomes a title glory to the families to which they belong, and represent, in the eyes of all, the spirit of sacrifice and devotion in its most sublime expression.—[British Medical Journal].

Mr. Conover is not a beautiful person in the eyes of the Washington correspondent of Cincinnati Enquirer. Thus runs the description. "Conover has lean, spider legs, and a medium sized body, a slouchy and amiable manner, and nervous movements; a standing collar, deep hemmed; is very bald, with darkish-red hair, like a dark curtain, dependent from the posterior; small, twinkling, blinking eyes, weak and baleful. The face never rises to pugnacity, and seldomsettles to serousness. The naked cranium is as flat as a clam-shell. He has a small nose, a little turned up at the tip; a brown beard covers his sharp jaws and chin; the face is a kind of small spout to the flat, inverted bread-tray of the skull."
